

I am a listener as well as a sponser of KLOVE. This is more than a radio station, it is family who care and prayer for me. The other day I got a call from a gentleman from KLOVE that said my name came up during a prayer meeting, is there anything I would like them to pray about. I started to cry because just two weeks before I was told I have breast cancer. I am not the only one that this has happened to the gentlement said. This connection to God is priceless.
